

18 March 2020

Greetings friends,

This is to advise that due to the fast-changing decisions being made by our government and authorities, the Easter Convention 2020 will not be taking place at Belgrave Heights.

We are disappointed in having to make this announcement but recognise the need to be wise, sensible and understanding in the current circumstances.

This is giving us the opportunity to do something different, which we trust will encourage you, and will enable the Convention to extend its ministry.

We are planning "Easter Convention Re-Imagined!" This will be an online Convention featuring Don Carson of which details will follow.

Further information will be sent by email, and will be posted on our BHC website and our Facebook page.

You will be aware that by not having the Convention on the grounds this year will severely impact our Convention finances. Finances received at Easter provide for our on-going Convention ministry costs – property, salaries, etc.

In addition, many churches and organisations are cancelling or postponing their own events held on our property.

These will create great pressure on the Convention to be able to effectively carry out the vision and mission that we believe so strongly in.

We will shortly contact those of you who were planning to stay on site with regard to your booking.

Please keep us in your prayers as we trust God to meet the Convention's needs.

In the meantime, pray with us for our Prime Minister, Scott Morrison and the leaders of our Federal and State governments as they respond to the changing situation around us.

As followers of Jesus we have no need to fear. We have His eternal promises – "Fear not; Do not be afraid; Look I am with you always, even to the end of the age."

Blessings

Richard Coombs

Belgrave Heights Convention
